Reading for twenty minutes a day is all it takes to help your child build the literacy skills they need for school and life. Children (even babies!) who are read to for 20 minutes each day are more prepared for school, experience more life success, and are happier overall. Help your child thrive—make each day a reading day!

Register for Read to Rise, Nashville Public Library's early literacy initiative for infants to kindergarteners, and earn prizes all year long!
